The printing and packaging sector is one of the manufacturing industries that works closely and successfully with other sectors in the national economy. Consequently, the industry is very sensitive to market fluctuations and is obliged to react quickly to changes in other sectors.

The experience of working with export markets in the last four or five years has brought positive results for Latvian printing and packaging manufacturers.

The sector is currently one of the most competitive Latvian manufacturing sectors in terms of foreign markets, 50–60% of production by value is exported; in some sub-sectors, such as book and label printing, and wood packaging, the export proportion is even higher.

The Latvian government has a clear vision of the sector’s future development and is aware of the challenges that must be overcome to ensure sustainable further growth. In order to offer a wide range of services to help companies expand their business, the main activities provided by the Investment and Development Agency of Latvia (LIAA) include foreign trade promotion, investment attraction, as well as administration of State support programmes in the form of EU Structural Funds.

Introducing the new Printing and Packaging Industry in Latvia catalogue, I would like to thank the enthusiasts, academics, investors and business people who have contributed to the development of this sector, as well as to wish them success in continuing their business and research. On behalf of LIAA, I would like to affirm that we will do our utmost to facilitate the growth and development of the printing and packaging sector in Latvia.
Printing and Packaging Sector in Latvia

PRINTING SECTOR

After the regaining of Latvian independence in 1991, the printing sector started to develop very quickly. Several Soviet-era printing houses were privatized and a number of new ones established. During the last few years, printing companies have been preparing for the increasing level of Baltic-region competition in the media market.

Today, there are more than 300 printing companies in Latvia, however only TOP 10 of them contribute approximately 43% of the industry’s turnover. The total output of the sector reached EUR 340 million in 2013, which is 4.5% of the total output of Latvia’s manufacturing industry.

The fastest growing segments are books, packaging materials and label printing.

The long-term increase in printing production volumes has provided export potential for the sector, which is what the sector’s further development depends on. That development is strongly dependent on the economic situation in global export markets, as the domestic market is developing relatively slowly.

Latvia joining the EU in May 2004 encouraged and simplified foreign trade and communications. Exports from the Latvian printing industry have increased, and this trend is still continuing. After the global economic crisis, pre-crisis export levels were regained and even exceeded by 2010, bringing positive signals to the sector.

In 2013, export volumes reached 65% of the sector’s total output. Currently, the proportion of exports is continuing to grow. The key factors influencing the sector’s competitiveness in foreign markets are high quality, short delivery times and cost effectiveness.

Today, the largest export markets are Norway, Denmark, Sweden, Germany, the Netherlands, the United Kingdom, Russia, Finland and Poland. The main export products, such as books and magazines, go to western Europe.
and Scandinavia, while labels and packaging tend to be for eastern markets. Latvian printing and packaging companies are strong competitors in Russia, Ukraine and Belarus, with high-quality packaging and labels. Prestige and printed materials with added value include art books, illustrated magazines, guidebooks, and packaging for foods, perfumery and medicines. Latvia ranks second in Europe in the export share of books, with export value being 74%.

More than EUR 154 million was invested in the sector between 2008 and 2013.

In recent years, new production facilities have been built and completely new equipment acquired by companies like Livonia Print, Poligrāfijas grupa Mūkusala, PNB Print, Jelgavas Tipogrāfija, VG Kvadra Pak and Liepājas papiirs. Some companies, such as Livonia Print, UnitedPress Tipogrāfija and PNB Print export almost all of their production. The leaders in book production are Livonia Print, PNB Print and Jelgavas tipogrāfija who have all invested considerably in the latest technology to ensure the high quality of their products.

The Association of Latvian Printing Companies (Latvijas Poligrāfijas uzņēmumu asociācija – LPUA) was established in 1997 and is an independent, non-profit organization. LPUA currently has 45 members – printing houses, graphic art suppliers, paper merchants and graphic art schools. It has been a member of the European Federation for Print and Digital Communication (Intergraf) since 2012.

The association has its own magazine, Iespiedgrafika, which has been published since 1998. The magazine’s four annual issues cover art and industry, people and machines, events and technologies.

The association’s main goals are to represent members’ interests at all levels; promote growth strategies within the printing industry; develop positive public opinion about the industry; facilitate the development of graphic-art education in Latvia; consolidate industry players to their mutual benefit; and to work closely with State institutions in all areas related to the printing industry – legislation, standardization, education and others.

LPUA is currently implementing the project Latvian Printing and Packaging Industry Workforce Development, within the framework of the European Social Fund’s (ESF) Human Resources and Employment initiative, where printing and packaging industry companies involved in the project have increased staff qualifications in various fields.

PACKAGING SECTOR

The packaging industry in Latvia has witnessed rapid development over the last 20 years. Latvian companies manufacture various types of packaging – plastic jars and containers, blister packs, labels, cardboard boxes, laminated bags and sacks, egg cartons, paper bags, PET bottles, polymer boxes, and tubes.

Great attention is paid to packaging from ecological materials, and there is a growing demand for exclusive, personalized packages for advertising purposes. Latvian companies can provide a wide range of technological facilities, manual work and unique design.

The packaging industry’s growing production volumes reflect the improvement in the general economic situation over recent years.

The leading companies in the packaging sector are VG Kvadra Pak, Stora Enso Packaging, Gamma-A, Polipaks and Gammaplast.

The most commonly used type of packaging in Latvia is glass, followed by polymers, paper and cardboard. Of packaging that is recycled, the most commonly recycled materials in Latvia are metal, glass, paper, and cardboard, while energy recovery mainly uses materials such as paper, cardboard and wood.

The principal packaging materials exported are products from wood, with manufacturing volumes of EUR 72 million or 39% of total packaging exports. More than 70 companies manufacture wood packaging.
international exhibitions, elaborates concepts for trends in packaging development in Latvia, and organizes the annual national competition, Latvia’s Best Packaging. The purpose of this contest is to promote packaging manufacture and design to be in line with European Union market standards, to support the continued development of high-quality packaging, and also to promote the use of environmentally friendly packaging in Latvia. A jury of experts and customers selects the winning package which can then participate in the WPO’s own competition – the prestigious, international WorldStar contest.

The second most important product group, with export volumes of EUR 56 million, is packaging from paper, comprising almost one-third of total export volumes. Most of the paper products are exported to Lithuania, Russia and Estonia. 80 companies manufacture products from paper and cardboard. Another 22% of exported packaging is contributed by polymers. For the sector overall, the main export destinations are Germany, Estonia, Lithuania, Russia and Poland.

The management of packaging waste in Latvia is strictly regulated by the Law on Packaging (in force since 1 July 2002). The Law and related regulations issued by the government and the Ministry of Environmental Protection and Regional Development place stringent requirements on packaging producers and processors, covering liabilities and environmental protection, requirements for the management of packaging waste, packaging recycling, re-use of packaging, etc.

The Latvian Packaging Association (Latvijas Iepakojuma asociācija) is a non-government organization bringing together Latvia’s producers, traders, users of packaging materials and machinery, and packaging consultants. The association was founded in 1995 and now has 24 members. The association has been a full-fledged member of the World Packaging Organization (WPO) since 1995, and provides extensive options for obtaining and exchanging information about packaging issues.

The activities of the association are aimed at developing an advanced packaging industry in Latvia. The association provides consultancy in the packaging field, maintains a database of producers and users of packaging materials in Latvia, and publishes educational and information literature about packaging. In addition, the association implements training, education, and research projects, publishing activities, legislative initiatives, and standards for packaging materials, organizes joint participation in

Business profile: The Annahouse team invents, designs and produces cardboard toys for children. We produce our toys in Latvia from child- and environmentally friendly materials. We want to offer a simple toy, one that evokes the child’s imagination, developing a creative spirit and vision through acting with parents and friends, creating his/her own special toy. We do not offer a readymade, painted, talking or dancing toy. We want to provide an impulse for play, an idea, while the rest is developed and created by the child himself/herself! The majority of our toys are fastened by flax cord, therefore they are stable and do not fall apart. Small hands may help parents fasten the purchased toy by threading the flax cord through the small holes and tying it up. The toy edges are corrugated so that hands cannot be cut. All corners are rounded so as not to be sharp. Seeking cooperation in: See Business profile. Certificates in use: CE, FSC.
